
Teach English or Business English in Rwanda Today!

The Opportunity

Let's talk about IMPACT. Established in 2009, The International Languages and Management Institute, ILMI, is the first English language and management training institute for local citizens, business executives, and government officials in Rwanda. Through the integration of international perspectives, advanced curriculum offerings, certified instructors, and an empowering institutional philosophy, ILMI will train its students to recognize impact as a journey to be experienced and a facet of history to be created and leveraged in the global arena.

This is why ILMI doesn't offer typical jobs. ILMI offers LifeScopes™. A LifeScope™ is an opportunity to redefine the values guiding one particular scope of your life: your career.

ILMI is ready to hire talented instructors to teach English and/or Business English to government officials and business executives in Rwanda.

In addition, ILMI offers a superb compensation package with excellent benefits.

Join us today so that together we can teach the language of change in order to proclaim words of impact!

Highlights

In June 2007, Rwanda joined the East African Community and soon after, President Paul Kagame's visionary leadership created a development Roadmap labeled "Vision 2020" to transform Rwanda's economy into a regional hub for services and industry. In order to ensure regional integration into an English-speaking East African Community, the Rwandan government made English the third official language of Rwanda in 2008, unlocking thus a tremendous national need and subsequent effort to teach English to Rwandan citizens, business executives, and government officials.

Today, foreign investors speak of Rwanda as one of the safest places in Africa, as well as one of the least corrupt. This year, Rwanda jumped 78 spots in the World Bank's "Doing Business" study.

Today you can help Rwanda fulfill its dream of regional integration and global prosperity.

Our time is now. Let's drive the entrepreneurial spirit. Let's lead the change we all care for.
